This week, we celebrate the 30th annual National Cancer Registrars Week (NCRW). The theme for 2026 is Registry Rockstars—recognizing cancer registrars whose precision, persistence and specialized skills power the California Cancer Registry (CCR).

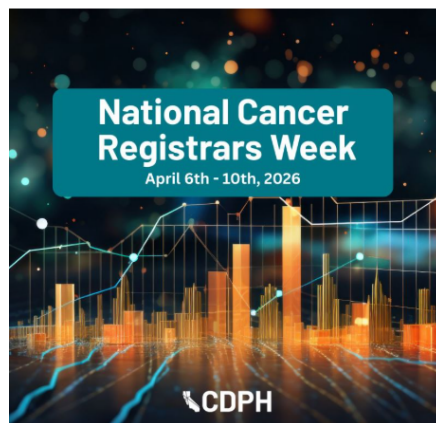

Why it matters:

The CCR, administered by CDPH since 1986, is California's statewide, population-based cancer surveillance system with more than 6.3 million case records, collecting over 190,000 new cases each year. This is made possible by the dedication of registrars across California. Their work transforms clinical details into high-quality data that informs research, prevention and treatment efforts across California.

On behalf of CDPH/CCR, thank you to every cancer registrar for the excellence you bring to the fight against cancer, and the care you show to patients and families behind every record.

Through the work of registrars, CCR data turns into actionable insights for communities, clinicians, researchers, and advocates. This interactive query system is made possible by your work. Visit https://linkd.in/gAzV_fr8
